Pale Girls and Frail Women

After discomfort—are languid, fretful and nervous, because their blood is thin or insufficient—then those so afflicted could fully realize the wonderful blood-making properties of SCOTT'S EMULSION of pure cod liver oil, which would not deprive themselves of its benefits.

Nourishment alone—not drugs or pills—makes blood—and Scott's Emulsion is the essence of medicinal nourishment free from wine, alcohol or opiates.

SCOTT'S EMULSION after meals fills hollow cheeks, overcomes languor and makes fringed hair.

TWO HOME WOMEN TALKED ABOUT HAIR

Two women met in our store the other day, when one of them said: "You look pretty good. What have you been doing to it?"

"I have been using Harmony Hair Beautifier for the past two weeks," was the reply.

"Why, indeed?" replied the first woman, "that is just what I am using. Isn't it good and don't my hair show a lot of improvement?"

Harmony Hair Beautifier is becoming all the rage among both men and women who are particular in the care of their hair. It is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It seems to polish and condition the hair, making it glossy, sleek and more easy to put up in graceful wavy folds that "stay put" without the use of oil, and will not change color or turn dark. It simply keeps a little on your hair each time when brushing it.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. The liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous lather, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of scalp and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. It is washed out as quickly as the entire scalp, leaving only a few moments. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy in every way, or your money back, and only at the more than 7,000 Retail Stores, and in this town only by us, the Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(Adv.)

REFORMERS FOR REVENUE ARE SCORED BY BISHOP

Rev. Thomas F. Gailor Assails Tendency of Present Age Toward Materialism

That the modern reformers have "infected on the country a senseless and needless agitation about 'white slavery,'" and that reformers are the cause of the materialistic tendencies of the age, was stated by Bishop R. Thomas F. Gailor, bishop of Tennessee, Tuesday.

Bishop Gailor, who came to Atlanta to attend the meeting of the board of reports of Swann's university, of which he is chairman, declared the majority of the crusaders, as salaried agents and secretaries of numerous institutions, are keeping up a continual agitation about something because they must earn their money.

"The agitation about women's dress and modern dances is useless," said Bishop Gailor. "They have a right to dress as they please, and it is my belief that a respectable woman is going to be a respectable woman and conduct herself in a respectable manner whether on the street or in the ball room. And if a woman is not respectable, agitation will not make her respectable."

Bishop Gailor said the appeals of the reformers are senseless and needless agitation about 'white slavery,' 65 percent of which is pure sensationalism. The ceaseless agitation and shouting about white slavery doesn't lessen the fact that there is no such thing as 'white slavery' to increase it.

"And as for my opinion that the white slave traffic is no slight as to be almost negligible, I have studied the subject of the traffic in the past few years. I have talked to men who have written on it, and I have seen the very few women who are in it, and I know that they are doing it because they are forced to do it, and not because they are forced to do it."

"That we must be cautious," he continued. "We must be sure of our ground before we raise a clamor. I believe genuine reforms will come; some of them have already come. In the West, the shooting and running about. The end of the present wave of physical infidelity and immorality is bound to come. Nature will not endure the elevation of the physical life over the spiritual."

Masquerade a Success
The annual masquerade given by the Atlanta German-American society Tuesday night at the Atlanta Turn Verein hall 24 1/2 South Pryor street, was a great success. The dancers in fancy costumes masked until 11 o'clock. Then the masks were removed, and the dancing continued until later in the night.

When the Stomach Goes Back to Work
Then is the Whole System Glad. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Quickly Put the Stomach in Shape

When the stomach fails to do its work properly, the whole system of man is unstrung and wholly incapable of doing its duty. The stomach is the tiniest vessel in the big, strong, pumping heart.

It is a wise law of nature that has made the stomach man's strongest organ, but when it is out of working order, it realizes that it does so because it can continue no longer.

MRS. BOND'S LAWYER

Ridicules Senator's Statement That His Conduct Was Not Improper

(By Associated Press.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 18.—In anticipation that the case would be submitted to the jury before night, a greater crowd than has attended the trial on any previous day gathered in the district court room here today to witness the final scenes in the hearing of the suit for damages brought by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, of Oklahoma, against United States Senator T. P. Gore. Address to the amount of $25,000 is asked by Mrs. Bond because of alleged indignities at the hands of the Alabama senator.

Overnight trains brought many persons from other points in Oklahoma, with the suit and its probable termination as practically the sole topic of conversation.

When court convened six of the twelve jurors allotted for argument remained. Senator Gore's attorneys had four hours to their credit, and counsel for the plaintiff two.

E. J. Giddens, who began the summary up for Mrs. Bond yesterday, ridiculed the contention of the defense that the suit was the result of a political conspiracy, and made the flat declaration that he believed that if there had been any impropriety it was on the part of Mrs. Bond.

WITNESSES SCORED.
Minnie Bond, pleading the cause of her senator, scored in turn each of the witnesses for the plaintiff as to their discredited office seekers who sought to displace her husband.

Boss Lillard, probably the most active of Mrs. Bond's attorneys during the trial, concluded just before court adjourned for the day. Lillard devoted part of his time to task to testify that R. Jacobs, a widely known political leader who was summoned by the plaintiff but who was not called on to testify, the attorney denounced Jacobs as

REFUSED $15,000 SALARY
THAT HE MIGHT PREACH

Minister Who Did It Is Coming
to Atlanta for Bible Conference

A preacher who recently refused a salary of $15,000 a year, offered him on condition that he would quit preaching and go into business, will be one of the remarkable personalities at the twelfth annual Atlanta Bible conference, which opens in Atlanta Sunday week.

The minister whose business ability was valued at such a high figure is the Rev. Dr. W. J. Williamson, of St. Louis. He will be a new voice at the Atlanta conference and is sure to make a deep impression. Atlantians who have heard him say he is unquestionably the greatest Baptist preacher in the south.

One who had betrayed a confidence, he and Senator Gore to the room in the Washington hotel on the day of the alleged occurrence.

It had been expected that Jacobs and several others would be called to testify in rebuttal yesterday, but instead counsel for Mrs. Bond announced their evidence finished at the opening of court. Arguments began after Judge Clark read his instructions to the jury.

THE ATTORNEY IS ASSAILED.
Attorney Robert L. Rogers, of Little Rock, Ark., caused a ripple of excitement today in addressing the jury in the Gore case, when he charged that J. P. McMurray, a prominent Oklahoma lawyer now living in Washington, planned the conspiracy against Gore.

Several years ago McMurray sought to prosecute claims for nearly $3,000,000 from the state of Oklahoma in connection with the transfer of their lands and Senator Gore fought McMurray's claims.

Rogers asserted Senator Gore was the only man who had been able to expose McMurray and in retaliation the latter conspired to ruin him had been planned.

Oklahoma has a home for such conspirators," he yelled. "It is never so safe as it seems."

McMurray is located at McAlester, Okla., in a penitentiary.

A verdict of one cent would satisfy the plaintiff, he declared, for such a verdict would brand Senator Gore.

Thousands of Sorrowing
Georgians View Pulseless
Form of Senator Bacon

Capitol Thronged With Friends
of Dead Statesman Where Body Lies in State - Great Hosts Ask as Honorary Escort

It seemed as if all of Atlanta and the half of Georgia had gathered at the Terminal station at noon Wednesday to see the body of Senator Bacon brought home to his wife's people.

For an hour before the train arrived a steady stream of citizens poured down Mitchell street and banked in great crowds about the big plaza. The station and neighboring hotels and houses were crowded with people, and women peering from doors and windows and swarming out upon the roofs.

As the train pulled in, Confederate uniforms to little fellow in end of gray, the city was there to welcome in sorrow their soldier and statesman.

Inside the station two cadet corps, Marietta college and the Georgia Military Academy, were formed in two long lines from the entrance to trains to the sunny plaza without and the black funeral car waiting for its burden.

Promptly at 11:40 o'clock the train from Washington arrived. A detail of United States soldiers and congressmen, prominent personalities all in the councils of the nation and warm personal friends of the dead man, Members of city council came next.

Around the funeral car outside were banked the veterans, several of whom were members of Senator Bacon's old regiment, the Ninth Georgia. They and been chatting quietly among themselves, recalling the days when they fought under the stars and bars side by side with the commander now gone before them. Now and then one would glance fondly at the memento of battle and blue wrapped around a battered stick. It was the flag of Camp Walker, the same under which Senator Bacon served.

LITTLE DELAY IN STARTING.
There was little delay about starting the procession. Through crowds so thick they were pressed close against the curbing and walls, a column of twenty mourners followed under Chief of Police Heaver's started down Mitchell street.

Already the band of the Seventeenth had broken into the measured strains of the funeral march. Close behind them officers came the regulars and the militia.

The slow, deep-toned notes of Chopin boomed out over the tremendous crowd, all silent, standing there with their heads in the bright sun of noon.

The Seventeenth and the Fifth proceeded at a slow pace down Mitchell street, marching in the column of twelve abreast. Close behind them came the junior soldiers, the boys of Marietta and G. M. A.

The regulars, the militia and the school boys were followed by the old veterans. Thirty-two of them marched slowly ahead of the funeral car.

On the heels of the veterans came the members of the Macon bar association, about twenty-five in number, and a few representatives of the Macon board of education. The city council of Atlanta, headed by Mayor Woodward and Aldermen Nutter, came just ahead of the members of the Atlanta Bar association.

Law followed carriage filled with members of the funeral party and several prominent Atlanta citizens.

PROCESSION A LONG ONE.
The procession was a long one. The march was along Mitchell street to Whitehall, to Hunter street to the capitol. So long was the parade that the last carriage had hardly left the station when the military band in front were breathing the Hunter street hill to the capitol.

Soldiers of the Seventeenth formed in phalanxes along Washington street, while the Fifth regiment drew out a long line from the steps on the Washington street entrance to the rotunda.

As the funeral car stopped outside the state house Governor Slaton with uncovered head preceded the cashiers in to the capitol. The rotunda was dimly lit and green with palms. John T. Boifueille, Senator Bacon's secretary, stood by the head of the casket as it was placed in the center of the rotunda.

Two monster floral wreaths were on top. Mr. Boifueille had one removed and gently opened the casket. The marble countenance of the dead senator was revealed.

Outside the long lines of soldiers stood at present arms. The band played "Nearer My God, to Thee."

Two abreast, the members of the honorary escort from Washington filed by the casket and passed out the Hunter street entrance. Mr. Boifueille stood by the head of the casket while men and women walked slowly past and gazed down at the dead man's face.

The old veteran with the banner stopped for a moment. He asked Mr. Boifueille a question, and the latter nodded. The Confederate flag was placed at the head of the casket, and beneath its folds Senator Bacon's body rested while such a crowd of men and women and little children passed by as have seldom gathered to do honor to a citizen.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS
BIBB COUNTY DECISION

Judge Supported in Upholding
Refusal of Beer Sale
License

In refusing to issue a writ of mandamus against the ordinary of Bibb county on petition by S. D. Cassidy, who wanted a near-beer license, notwithstanding that he admitted having been convicted in June, 1913, of a violation of the prohibition law, Judge Matthews, of the Bibb superior court at Macon was upheld, Wednesday, by the state supreme court. The high court held that the section of the law which disqualified a man convicted under the prohibition law from taking out a license thereafter to sell near-beer, he valid, and that the judge was supported by its authority.

Cassidy applied to the Bibb ordinary for a near-beer license, and his application was denied when he admitted having been convicted of violating the prohibition law. He applied to Judge Matthews for a writ of mandamus, and that, too, was refused. He appealed, and the case came to the state supreme court because it involved a constitutional question. Cassidy contended that he was being deprived of his property rights without due process of law, in violation of the fourteenth amendment.

DANGER AFTER GRIPPE Lies in Poor Blood, Cough and Worn-Out Condition

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia are greatly to be feared at this season.

To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumonia, it is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system.

Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and olive preparation without oil, and get your strength and vitality back quickly.

W. W. Lake, of Aberdeen, Miss., says: Grippe left me weak, run-down, and with severe cough from which I suffered for a long time. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol which I received great help from. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again.

Try Vinol with the certainty that it does not benefit you we will give back your money. Ellis Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Spring may be on the way, but we will not be lieve it until we see.

President Wilson is proving that he will go to govern
a country is to govern it.

Business and the Administration.

No one has ever suspected the New York Herald
of being a partisan supporter of the Wilson administration. It has freely criticized Congress and the President, too, whenever it saw fit to do so, though good taste and good sense have always kept it above
the monotonous snarl to which some of its contemporaries are addicted. As a place of independent judgment, therefore, the following editorial utterance from the Herald is particularly noteworthy:

"The American business world is remarkably active and prosperous. That is what most baffles the calamity howlers and what they are most anxious to keep in the background. The fact is the new boom in Washington has swept clean and has swept clean. President Wilson's policy is producing—indeed, it has already produced—results of such excellence that his partisans are overwhelmed with delight and his adversaries with dismay. The former can scarcely have dared to hope for such complete success. The latter were certainly unprepared for so staggering a rebuttal of their predictions that the Democrats were digging the grave of American business."

"This comment is based on what the Herald terms
"incontrovertible figures," a faithful record and report of business conditions in the country. It is a broad, independent, uncolored view of the effect of the Wilson policies, the view of frank, observant men throughout the United States.

The most interesting fact of the Democratic administration is that in ten brief months it has accomplished the very thing in which its critics prophesied
it would inevitably fail: It has earned the confidence of business and has placed the country's prosperity on a firm basis. It has solved economic problems with which Republicans struggled vainly year after year. It has proved strongest and most assuring at the very points where its enemies predicted it would be weakest.

The Wilson administration exemplifies true progress, the progress that upholds and conserves, that attains its end through orderly readjustment rather than through headlong revolution, the progress that thinks its way forward and knows precisely whither it is bent. To this quality is due the fact that although the administration has brought to pass more changes than its immediate predecessors ever dared even to propose, it holds the confidence of the business world.

Whatever may become of the finance sheet, the crematory is taking a periodical rest.

Down in Mexico they seem to be marking time against the coming of another "crisis."

Over seven thousand national banks have joined the currency system, which leads one to suspect that the original bank opposition has about melted away.

Little Grains of Corn.

The Florida Times-Union interestingly suggests that if every ear of corn or head of wheat raised in the United States this year should contain one grain more than those of the last harvest, ear for ear and head for head, the country's grain supply and its wealth would be greatly increased, without additional expense or labor. "Careful seed selection and scientific cultivation," the Times-Union adds, "would in time, bring about such a result."

The fact is that very result is now being brought to pass in states that are alert to new methods and new ideas of agriculture. Georgia's average acre yield of corn has not only increased in the last six years. The work of the boys' corn clubs has been wonderfully productive and has brought fresh energy and foresight into every department of farming. When the Smith-Lever agricultural extension bill goes into effect we may expect this kind of influence to be even still more far-reaching. A skilled farm demonstrator in every agricultural county will open the way for practical, widespread application of scientific knowledge. The result will inevitably be richer in production on less land and with less labor.

The United States has lagged many years behind Europe in agricultural development, but there are cheering signs that this country is now awakening to the basic importance of the farm and that a new era of food production is at hand.

Colonel Roosevelt says that what the country needs is a strong man at the head of it following the will of a strong public opinion. Haven't we already the combination?

An Unfair and Foolish Test.

The report that President Wilson's veto awaits
the Burnett immigration bill, should it pass the Senate with the literacy test retained, is not unexpected.
Years ago Mr. Cleveland unflinchingly opposed a similar measure on the substantial ground that it was contrary to Democratic and American principles and out of keeping with common justice and common sense. It is to be regretted that the House of Representatives passed this bill; it is to be hoped that the Senate will either rid it of the objectionable clause or let it die; but Congress failing, the President will naturally challenge it with his accustomed sense of fitness and fair play.

There can be no reasonable complaint against the strictest measures that are designed honestly and intelligently to protect this country from the riff-raff of the Old World. Immigrants who are diseased, disabled or criminal should never be admitted. But the fact that they cannot read or write at the time of their arrival should not bar them, if they are otherwise acceptable, any more than the mere fact that they can read and write should be taken as conclusive evidence of their fitness. The literacy test, as the Baltimore Sun well says, is "an obviously inadequate remedy for the evil to which it purports to be addressed."

"If this country is suffering from overpopulation, and we are convinced that we must shut our ports to immigrants, let us say so in plain language and do it in open, honest fashion. But if what we are trying to do is to exclude undesirable immigrants, the proposed test does not reach the root of the trouble at all, but tends to defeat its own object. A desirable immigrant is not necessarily an immigrant who can read thirty or forty words in his own or some other language. A parrot might be taught to do that and pass the test that has been devised by the Congressional sages. And so could the most dangerous criminals and moral degenerate who come to us from abroad. On the other hand, it is a matter of common knowledge that thousands of honest, sturdy and illiterate immigrants have furnished the parent stock for some of our best and most useful citizenship, and have added material and moral strength to their adopted country. If any test can be devised by which the morally unfit can be kept out of this country,
there will be universal concurrence in its adoption. But the literacy test, on the face of it, is utterly powerless to probe into character, and it violates the American principles which has always proclaimed an open door to the worthy people of all countries who desire to cast in their lot with us."

Indications are that the Senate will go cautiously in this matter. Indeed, the balance of judgment in the upper House seems heavily against the proposed literacy test. There is reason to hope that the bill will be duly amended before it reaches the President.

Killed by Carelessness.

In recording the pathetic fact that in the United States three hundred thousand babies less than year old last year, Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the Federal Bureau of Child Welfare, observes that half the number would doubtless be living had due heed been given simple laws of hygiene and sanitation.

Ignorance and neglect, rather baffling disease, are chargeable with the greater part of infant mortality;
and to a marked degree, the community is responsible. Impure milk leads to thousands of deaths among babies. This is a peril which any city can virtually eliminate by a thoroughgoing ordinance supported with a careful system of inspection. Where-ever such measures have been taken, the infant death rate has steadily declined. Failure to provide such a safeguard is a municipal crime.

Sanitation in general is a public matter. It concerns all the people all the time, and demands the keenest eye of government. It cannot be left to individual interest, if the community is to be protected. That is true not only of milk and food supply but also of housing conditions. The city that suffers any element of its population to be quartered in grime and misery, puts the health of all in jeopardy and keeps its death rate high.

One hundred and fifty thousand preventable deaths in a twelvemonth! A hundred and fifty thousand baby lives put out through carelessness of simple hygienic or sanitary laws! The record challenges earnest thought on the part of governments, city, state and national. A great deal has been accomplished in the reduction of infant mortality in recent years. Conditions are incomparably better than a decade ago. But a vast deal more remains to be done, and communities no less than individuals must face the responsibility.

If the world owes every man a living, the millionsaire must be preferred creditors.

Senator Bacon

(New York Times.)
In spite of passing fashions, Augustus O. Bacon, of Georgia, to the last remained a senator of the old school. He refused to be captivated by the fads and fancies of current politics and never yielded his principles for expediency's sake. The younger generation was disposed to regard him as a reactionary, and even reactionary, but in so far as he was a conservative, it was because of his sound legal training,
his cautiousness in action and his conception of statesmanship of the senate.

Yet in spite of the spread of new ideas, Senator
Bacon retained his hold unshaken upon the affections of the people of his state. If he had lived until March 3 he would then have entered upon his fourth consecutive term as senator, a record reached by no Senator since the loyalty of his state to him and his high service and solid attainments gave him great influence among the members not only of his own party, but also of the opposition. To his inspiration and example was due in very large part the moderation of the senate in its policy on the Mexican question when certain hotheads were seeking to cause trouble from dubious motives.

For his consistent attitude in that matter as chairman of the committee on foreign relations, both the country and the administration owe him a great debt of gratitude.

(New York Sun.)
Of the senate of the fifty-fourth congress, the first in which Augustus Octavius Bacon sat, how many of the senators who welcomed him on his initial appearance still sit in the chamber just beyond his grave. Faintly, faintly, as if he were still there, sit Knute Nelson, Jacob H. Gallinger, Benjamin Ryan Tillman, Mark W. Vialie, Warren H. G. Vest, and of the great or still unfaded names and undisputed or respectable talents of the senate, it is enough to remember that dead great Bacon was one of them.

Of Mr. Bacon's living colleagues now in the senate,
it is enough to name George W. Gray, William E.
Chandler, Nelson W. Aldrich, Henry M. Teller and James Daniel Cameron.

Among such men and their peers in later senates
Mr. Bacon sat a worthy associate. A brave soldier, a sound lawyer, a learned and an accurate parliamentarian, a thorough student of many momentous questions that arose in his time and in foreign affairs, accurately informed, discreet and tactful; he was a senator who wrote and carried out his policy with dash and uprightness and illustrated the dignified and noble traditions of the senate, traditions that may be carried on by no other body in the world. Independent a cast to suit the popular was none of the moment, but which have honorably served the welfare of the United States and the purposes of the constitution.

With extension of Christianity came names of a Biblical stamp, and in great numbers. Boys were named in honor of prominent characters or of saints of the church. These children were born, saved from some disaster. We find Adam, Moses, David, Paul, Peter, Paul or Saul, Philip or Phelps and Seymour (St. Mary).

If the birth occurred on a holy day or during a feast of the church, the child was named after the Christmas, Yule and, of like meaning through the Norman, Noel and Nowell. Paul and Pascal (Easter), Pen-nycuik and Tiffany and Tiffin from the feast of Epiphany.

Localities must have had a great and permanent influence on names. Boys now were named after at the schoolhouse, by the mill or elsewhere. In Saxon, "at," "at" or "atton" meant "at," and old English names with such entries as "Wood," "at Grove," "Andrew at Woods," etc. Their descendants, Atwood, Atwell and Nash, "atton ash" are everyday names. When names of the place were small (or small lake), Gate, Cross, Church, Temple, Crossway, Townsend, Field and Street show their origin at once.

people had to cross deep streams by ferry, and the man

Burns Carries Brickbat in Either Hand for Governor Cole Blease, of South Carolina

Noted Detective Is in Atlanta for Lecture-Silent on the Frank Case

Brickbats for Cole Blease, brought for suffragettes and bludge for the Frank case was the broadside Detective William J. Burns unloaded when he arrived in Atlanta Wednesday morning.

The greatest sleuth in the world proved himself by alighting from the train and eluding the watchful eyes of two press agents, four reporters, a trio of photographers and one of his own men. They all missed him. Only the delay of a dark cab driver in getting his trusty steed started prevented Burns from making a clean getaway.

He reached Atlanta over the N. & W. R. L. railway from Columbus, O., at 10 o'clock to fill a lecture date at the Baptist Tabernacle Wednesday night. He was accompanied by Mrs. Burns.

With neither the disguise of whiskers nor the aid of gumshoes, Mr. Burns showed himself a sure sleuth, while the reception committee ran from car to car to frantic haste looking for a short, stout man, curly-haired, with a close-cropped moustache, the negro Pullman porter was aiding a lady and a stout short man with a moustache and close-cropped curly hair to alight from the front coach.

BURNS IS DISCOVERED.
Mr. Burns was safely embarked in a cab when his own officer from the local branch dashed into Wall street and yelled at the driver. The driver stopped. "Is this Mr. Burns?" bellowed a reporter.

"It is," said Mr. Burns, calmly enough.

Then he was interviewed and photographed before he pursued the even tenor of his way to the Georgian terrace.

"How about the Frank case, Mr. Burns?"
He looked puzzled. "O, yes, that was the little Phagan girl that was killed here. Never heard of her until last summer when a man told me about it on the boat coming over from Europe. No, I never had a report on it. If you see there are some three thousand men in my employ, and I don't hear of these individual cases unless they're pretty important. Mr. Tobie, the man you say is down here in head of the criminal department of my Chicago office. He is a man."

Mr. Burns evidently did not recall that Mr. Tobie had been from Atlanta, declaring "this is the hell of a case, and I'm going to get out." "Whether Burns really had an opinion about the case is a mystery. You can't use the third degree on a late Mercer user, you know."

As for Cole Blease, whom Mr. Burns saw well a year ago in the photograph case in which Blease's enemies tried to put the kibosh to him, Burns was armed with a stiff punch for the Carolina governor.

BRICKBAT FOR BLEASE.
"Going to run for the senate is he, well, I thought they had started to run to congress instead of blemishing it. It just means that South Carolina will be represented by one senator instead of two. Blease will be a nonentity up there."

Burns isn't backing off the lecture date he has in Columbia this spring, despite the fact that Blease has threatened to have him arrested if he ever crosses the South Carolina border.

"Blease barks," said Burns. "He never bites."

"I have never been a respecter of persons, as you know," he continued. "The men higher up are the men to get too. There are lots of men outside prison walls who should be inside. Instead of sending young men to prison, we should send for the big fellows who are really responsible. That is the only way to eliminate crime."

"But the world is getting better. Graft has been reduced 10 per cent in the last few years. I'll tell you what, too. It is the women who are largely responsible for the improvement. I am in favor of suffrage for them and always have been."

Mr. Burns was of the opinion that punishment and reformation should go hand in hand in our prisons.

REFORMATION FIRST.
"Reformation should be precedent," he declared, "but you have to have punishment. Some men should never be sent to the penitentiary that are there now. Others should be kept in for life to save society from them. Young men really should be kept from the ill results and the disgrace of a prison service."

"Proper environment more than education is going to be the cure-all for the young criminals of this nation. Education is doing much, but it is far secondary to environment. You take the new York grime, those young fellows that hang out around the Tub of Blood and similar places. They have been well educated. Most of them are high school graduates. It is their environment that is responsible for them. Clean up your cities and you will lose your criminals. It is in the work that woman's suffrage is going to help. Already we are doing away with graft and getting the men higher up who are responsible for bad municipal conditions. I expect the

GRAND JURY INDICTS YOUNG ATHENS LAWYER

A true bill has been returned by the Fulton county grand jury charging Roy M. Strickland, a young attorney of Athens, with larceny after trying to bribe a bench warrant has been sent the sheriff of Clarke county (Athens) with instructions to hold the attorney for a $500 bond.

According to the indictment and the charges of the solicitor general's office Strickland, in 1911, was paid a fee of $20 by a woman in Athens, who at the same time is alleged to have given $100 additional to be used for the payment of the fine of her brother, one G. B. Gillette, who was then serving a sentence in the Clarke county jail.

Instead of paying the fine, it is alleged, Strickland retained the $100 until the man had completed the sentence of an eight-months' term, and then the attorney returned the amount of the fine to the man's sister in Athens. The grand jury, after hearing from several witnesses, returned the true bill despite the fact that the money, alleged to have been given Strickland, has already been returned.

Next few years to see still more improvement along these lines."

Mr. Burns will be in Atlanta until Thursday morning. Following his lecture at the Tabernacle Wednesday night, he goes to Jacksonville, Fla., for another date on his country-wide tour.

NEGROES TO HAVE PART IN BIBLE CONFERENCE

Officers of the Association Arrange for Them to Attend Sessions in Atlanta

The negroes of Atlanta will be given every possible opportunity to participate in the coming Atlanta Bible conference March 1 to 5. The Atlanta Bible Conference association has taken them into consideration in making its arrangements and will see that they have a chance to hear all the noted speakers who will be here for the conference.

"We feel that whatever is done for Atlanta would not be done for the whole city unless her large negro population is included," said Rev. Dr. Richard Oram Plinn, vice president of the association, and chairman of the executive committee. "There are 60,000 negroes in Atlanta, and they include a large percentage of our population. We feel they are entitled to this opportunity, and accordingly have arranged to give all the negroes who desire it a chance to attend the conference. We have also provided to give them meetings of their own at their own churches so which our speakers will be heard."

"The negro ministers of Atlanta have appointed a committee to take charge of arrangements for their participation in the conference and an interesting program will be prepared for them."

THEATERS

ATLANTA—Money Boy Evans' Minstrel.
TOBIE—Blanche Walsh and other vaudeville.
LYRIC—Our New Minister.
AUDITORIUM—Old-Time Fiddlers' Convention.

(Criticism of initial performance at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managers.)

George Evans and his band of funny minstrel men will be at the Atlanta again this afternoon and tonight, after which they will be seen no more for a year. This season Evans has what all the critics declare to be the fondest show over on the road in Georgia, and he is packing the Atlanta at each performance. Certainly Evans stands in a class by himself, while the other members of his company reach the highest standard ever set in Atlanta. The show is a scream from start to finish and Atlantians are sure to miss a great treat if they miss it.

Thursday morning seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta for the great laughing success, "Stop Thief," which Conan and Harris are sending to Atlanta with a superb company. This farce comedy was produced last year in New York and remained there a full season, drawing enormous crowds.

Blanche Walsh, one of America's greatest actresses, headlines the best bill of the Lyric's season so far, which is a pretty strong declaration. Miss Walsh offers "Quintessence of Vaudeville," and in this sketch, surrounded by a most capable company, is a huge success.

A feature in The Melhars, two young Americans, just returned from an enormous success in Europe. They offer an extreme electrical novelty—their own inventions—figures that seem made of bolts of fire fitting around on a totally dark stage. Stepp, Goodrich and King, a trio of piano and harp players, entertain in a lively fashion. Miss Laura Buckley presents her potent monologue, "Character Cartoons," winning a success. Other popular numbers are given by Miss Fanny Osborn and her pets, presenting a trust especially for the ladies and children. "A Busy Day in Potland," Hugh McCormack and Grace Wallace, in a new ventriloquist novelty, "The Theatrical Agent," and James B. Donovan and Lida Arnold and an entertaining variety act.

"Our New Minister" is pleasing at the Lyric theater this week. Norman Hackett and his company are giving an exceptionally good performance of this heavy royalty play, and a very successful week is anticipated. The types, which are all of the small-town character, are well cast, each of the company giving a very good portrayal of the rural types. Mr. Hackett, as the minister, is excellent, and Miss Diell, in the role of the ex-covet's daughter, makes a good impression.

"Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" will be offered next week.

Third Baseman Nealon Lynch Sends in His Signed Contract

Nealon Lynch Gets in Line With Crackers

Third Baseman Bought From Three I League Returns Signed Contract—Expects to Make Good—Harry Holland Back in City After Absence of Several Weeks

BY IRVIN BROWN.

Nealon Lynch, newly-acquired third baseman, returned his signed contract to Manager Bill Smith Tuesday afternoon. Lynch is at present in California, and it first made a casual inquiry as to what the Crackers would be willing to do toward saving a long-overland trip via sea, rather, back to his native soil in case he failed to make good. The local management promptly assured him that they were doing nothing for the going, after having been fully informed just where he stood, in order to avoid any uncertainty. Nealon promptly signed the document sent him, and fired it back. Lynch performed last season in the Three-I league. He played third for the better team, and played well. Furthermore he proved a useful citizen with the elbow. He does not intimate by his inquiry, concerning return transportation, that he has any doubt about sticking. On the other hand, he expresses himself as fully confident that he is going to spend a greater part of the approaching summer in and around Atlanta.

Harry Holland is back in the city after a considerable period spent in the country and nearby towns, doing electrical construction work. He appears somewhat heavier than he did last summer, which should prove a benefit to him in his battle for a job with the Washington team. He has been notified to report for practice in Charlottesville, Va., on March 5, and expects to be there when the going starts.

According to an arrangement made some time since, a somewhat different policy will be pursued by the Crackers management during the coming season than has obtained heretofore, with reference to ladies' tickets. Under the new plan, only those who hold season tickets will be allowed the privilege of buying tickets on regular ladies' days at the price of 25 cents. In other words, if the fair fans wish to take advantage of the special price on these dates, it will be necessary that they buy a season ticket otherwise they will be charged the regular price for grandstand seats. The season ticket will sell for $10.00.

Frank Mohler, son of the veteran second sacker, Kid Mohler, will play with the Murray team, of the Union association, this season. Mohler is manager of an indoor baseball team at Malden, Wash.

THE SPORTLIGHT

BY GRANTLAND RICE

Bring on your leagues—fetch all you've got. Plug up each unobstructed lot. With grandstands and with playing fields. And all that competition yields. Come on, fill up each spot in sight. Until around us, left and right. The air is full of two-base hits. And shining snakes and blinding mitts. And all that appetizes unto. The game we yearly come to woo.

Come on—go to it—jam 'em in. With all your industry and tin. For, if resulting from your lark. You make the world a baseball park. And crowd all business to the wall. To make room for the whizzing ball. Claiming each well located space. For remnants of some pennant race. With life tied up in this one flurry—Well, we should worry.

The two big leagues ever the fans won't stand for the brand of ball the Feds will have to offer. But the Feds, in certain towns, are banking upon the belief that Caesars was correct when he remarked, "I would rather root for a winner in a little, Iberian village than for a tail-ender in Rome."

The two majors are likely to find competition especially keen in either where said majors are operating tail-end contenders against clubs verging upon first place. So far as the average fanatic is concerned, it takes a bit to slip one by the daily standing of the clubs.

THE FRATERNITY KINK.

President Dave Fultz and the Players' Fraternity are in quite a technical fix. According to their constitution, by-law, etc., only the two major leagues and the two class A. A. circuits are eligible for membership. This leaves the eds out of the fold, ineligible to partake of the association.

Yet it was the Fed uprising which not only secured most of the concessions received from the started commish, but it was also the Fed uprising which did more for the betterment of salaries than anything that ever struck the game.

The Fraternity was started to uplift the athlete, to better his conditions, nothing else. Yet the Feds have uplifted the athlete beyond any other factor. And still the Feds are not eligible for membership in any organization pointing the same way.

On the other wing, the Fraternity is up against the proposition of not yet knowing just what the Federal league will be—whether it will make good or fizzle out within a year.

SURE.

Regarding any assistance the Feds may have offered players in organized baseball, it's a cinch, of course, that with no Fed upheaval around the N. L. would have made a rush to guarantee Everett Ruess, pitcher since 1904, and now that the effort to drive him out of baseball is in earnest, his history is interesting.

"Murphy, in spite of the popular belief that he is of Jewish extraction, is of Irish parentage, his father being Patrick Murphy, of Wilmington, Ohio. He worked in a drug store, went to Cincinnati, where he later secured a job on a newspaper, and after a time wrote baseball.

ONE REASON.

"Why haven't the Feds decided to invade Boston?" inquires G. F. D. Mainly because Boston already has three major league teams—the Red Sox, the Braves and Charley Brickett.

With the Toronto franchise switched to Brooklyn, what Brooklyn scribes are planning to cover Bill Bradley on his training trip? We know of no greater opening for a scribe to horn in as an athlete and help Bill plug a couple of gaps, thereby evening up with the player-authors who are horning in on the scribes.

HARD LUCK BILL.

"Now is the winter of my discontent." Wrote Avon Bill in palpable fatigue. Showing in Bill's day it was evident. There was no rare space-filling outlaw league.

If any one had suggested two years ago, or a year ago at this date, that the pungent Braves of Boston would by 1914 be considered in the light of pennant possibilities, the suggestion would have probably been impeached and subjected to horrible torture. But when it comes to launching miracles, George Stallings doesn't have to run second to either McGraw or Mack. All the Boston chief requests before any start is a franchise and a ball park. The rest of it with him is merely a matter of a few brief weeks in which to round up the accomplices and the tools.

Boys High Beat Peacock-Fleet

Boys' High tightened their hold on first place in the local Prep League Tuesday afternoon when they defeated Peacock-Fleet by the score of 39 to 15. The game was played upon the Marxist court and was replete with sensational playing.

The line-up: BOYS' HIGH (39). PEACOCK-F. (15). I. Knox (4), f.Ponder (4), f. Johnston (4), f.F. Knox (2), f. Scott (20), c.Duhon, c. Starr (4), g.Wells (7), g. Floyd, g.Saunders, g.

Tech High Beat Donald Fraser

Tech High schools basketball five which has been playing great ball lately, evened up the count with Donald Fraser yesterday afternoon by defeating them 29 to 17. The game was played upon the Tech High court and was well fought throughout.

The line-up: TECH HIGH. DONALD F. CINTAS, f. 17.Phillips, f. 14. Meyers, f. 4.Burgess, f. 2. Thomas, c. 8.Brown, c. Edell, c. 8.Mallory, c. 8. Fletcher, c. 8.Thompson, c. 8. Referee, Gardner (Carline). Time of halves, 15 and 20 minutes. Fouls each, Phillips 9, Cintas 8.

Spider Britt Will Box Grant

Three big bouts will be staged at the Columbia theatre tonight, but the prize match will be the ten-round scrap between Jimmy Grant, the popular bantamweight from Chicago, and "Spider" Britt, Atlanta's best 115-pound boy. These battles will meet in the main event and the winner will not have to work around these parts. Grant has met and defeated every boy of his weight in Atlanta and if he wins tonight he will be in line for a chance at Johnny Coulton or any of the other star bantams. The bouts will be put on between shows at 9:30.

Close Soccer Game Saturday

Probably the best and most evenly balanced game of the Soccer league will be played at Piedmont park on Saturday, when the Atlanta and Foote & Davies teams meet for their second game in the league series. Both teams are on edge and will put forth every effort to annex the contest. The Atlanta team has beaten the printers already this year, but there is some improvement to be seen in the work of the latter, while the Atlanta bunch is in about the same shape, although with a trifle the better of the argument on paper.

MURPHY MAKES FORTUNE SQUABBLING IN BASEBALL

BY RUSS F. FULLERTON.

Charles W. Murphy, the most talked of and most hated man in the sporting world today, likewise is one of the most interesting. Whatever Murphy does it is interesting, and he has created more trouble, put over more deals, caused more upheavals in the baseball world than all the other club owners combined.

He is a small, stumpy man, quick of wit, brilliant in repartee, quick of temper, quick to forgive, even quicker than he is to seek forgiveness. Murphy has been the monkey wrench in baseball machinery since 1904, and now that the effort to drive him out of baseball is in earnest, his history is interesting. "Murphy, in spite of the popular belief that he is of Jewish extraction, is of Irish parentage, his father being Patrick Murphy, of Wilmington, Ohio. He worked in a drug store, went to Cincinnati, where he later secured a job on a newspaper, and after a time wrote baseball.

Reorganization Unlikely In Appalachian League

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
ROME, Ga., Feb. 18.—There is little probability that the Appalachian league will be reorganized for the coming season. Some was released from the league and its franchise given to Knoxville, Ky. However, both Bristol and Johnson City are said to be averse to entering the league this year. Middletown and Pineville are not active and the only real baseball enthusiasm in the circuit is confined to Knoxville and Morrisville.

Georgia State League Will Begin Season April 16

VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 18.—The Georgia State league directors met here yesterday and adopted a schedule calling for 108 games to be divided into two fifty-four game seasons. The season will begin April 16 and the first half will close June 17. The season will come to an end August 16. President Kalmon warned the directors that it was his intention to rigidly enforce the salary limit.

Thirty-Five Report For Track at Yale

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 17.—Dozens of track athletes at Yale received a check last night when only thirty-five candidates for the team reported at a meeting called by Captain Brown. Last season there were about 100. Active track training starts tomorrow.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Russell Ford, the pitcher who left the New York Americans, it was announced today, has become the property of the Chicago Federals. It was understood at first that he would be with the Buffalo club.

BUSINESS IS GOOD

and

GETTING BETTER

Folks are waking up to the fact that Atlanta has more solid stuff in her foundations than any of our sister cities.

The facts and figures submitted in the Regional Banking hearing developed a picture of business and industry, a growth and development beyond anyone's dreams.

You can't get away from facts. And the facts show our town to be growing faster and doing bigger business every day.

The kind of growth this town is experiencing means a certain advance in values of all central property. MOST PARTICULARLY the main THOROUGHFAIRES.

The fortunes that have been made already in central property stagger the imagination, but by stepping just a little further west, and big money is still in the making.

Fifty-one thousand dollars for fifty-one feet on Whitehall close to the shopping district, with a big brick building on it that cost over $25,000 to build, and renting on an old lease for over $2,000 per year, looks to you a sound investment, sure to bring bigger rents and double in value before many more years.

To bank on Atlanta dirt means safety and profit. This Whitehall property to our mind is a splendid purchase, and we recommend it.

"SACRIFICE SALE."

We very often hear the above expression, and read a similar heading to an ad of our fellow Real Estate Agents. When a client has placed with them a piece of property for immediate sale, it is a reduction in former prices. There is always a reason for a man sacrificing his property, and to him them all up.

Find it is invariably the case, to "take some money quick."

Have a client who wishes to offer you a beautiful 7-room, two-story home in the heart of the city, in the neighborhood of ANSLY PARK. This has every convenience, including furnace, hot and cold electricity, hot and cold water, large sleeping porch, one of the prettiest lots in the neighborhood of $2,000.

Improvements added. Our opinion is that this property is worth at least $25,000. Look at this house before it is offered. It will pay you.

The Real Estate Field

John W. Alexander has Tentative Plans for Business Building on South Pryor Street Near Mitchell-Jackson Street, Highland View and McLendon Street Bases—Investment Buyers and Speculators Exchanging Bases

John W. Alexander, who owns a large vacant lot on the east side of South Pryor street, fifty feet south of Mitchell-Jackson street, has tentative plans for improving this lot with a three-story building.

Mr. Alexander has a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 145 feet, and he proposes to improve all the frontage and 125 feet of the depth.

He has already called for an expenditure on the building of between $20,000 and $40,000. These plans are not absolutely set on foot but they are being given serious consideration.

SMALL REAL ESTATE SALES.

The Martin-Dunbar Realty company has sold for a client to Sisson and Miller No. 381 North Jackson street for the sum of $7,500. This consists of a two-story, nine-room house on a lot 5x150.

The Burdette Realty company has sold for W. A. 1011 Toney No. 3 Highland View, a bungalow on a lot 5x145, for $2,550. It was this agency which offered for the sale of a two-story, nine-room house on a lot 5x150.

Buyers are also guided by sentimentality in their purchases. A change of scene from a strictly investment, or a strictly speculative atmosphere is sought.
